Botanical Watercolor Workshop

St. Brendan's Catholic Church | Taught by Catherine Conway

Spend a Saturday learning to see and paint native plants the way a botanical illustrator does, from first pencil study to finished watercolor. Open to all levels. Materials provided for first time students.

Date	Saturday, October 17, 2026
Time	10:00 AM to 1:00 PM
Place	St. Brendan's Fellowship Hall
Fee	85 dollars, materials included
Register	Booking link on the parish website

What You Will Learn

- Observational drawing of leaf and petal structure.
- Building luminous washes in layers.
- Both scientific accuracy and a looser, impressionistic hand.
- Choosing archival materials that last.

Proceeds support the parish fellowship hall. Quarterly workshops continue through the year.
