Wild Botanica Opens January 2027 at Ashvale Arts Center

PORTLAND, Oregon. The Meridian Gallery Collective will present Wild Botanica, a group exhibition of contemporary botanical art, opening January 9, 2027 at the Ashvale Arts Center, 1450 NW Vaughn Street. The opening reception begins at 6:00 PM and is open to the public.

The show gathers regional artists working at the intersection of scientific observation and fine art. Among the featured artists is Catherine Conway of Beaverton, a dermatologist and nationally recognized botanical watercolorist whose native wildflower studies anchor the north wall. Her work moves fluently between exacting scientific rendering and a looser, impressionistic hand.

Quote

Botanical art asks you to slow down and look until the plant tells you something true, said Conway. These native species deserve that attention.

Wild Botanica runs through late winter. Original works and fixed edition prints will be available, with sales handled through the Collective.

Ends.
